U20 FOOTBALL : BURKINA FASO AND NIGERIA REACH THE SEMI-FINALS

End of suspense for group A of the 2019 All-Africa Games football competition. In U-20 men, Burkina Faso and Nigeria qualify for the semi-finals after the Atlas Lion Cubs draw against Nigerian Super Eaglets. A draw not easy to digest for the host country team since it was quite qualified until the 92nd minute of the match, when Emeka equalized for Nigeria. Abba (13th) and Moutaraji (60) pushed the Atlas Lion Cubs to the lead twice while Ibrahim had already equalized in 45th minute. Thus, the final classification of group A: Burkina Faso 7 points, Nigeria 5, Morocco 4, South Africa 0.

Fortunately, Moroccans will be able to console themselves thanks to the qualification of their U20 women. The Lionesses dominated Mali with the score of 4-1, and so got the qualifying ticket to the semi-finals with the perfect score of 9 points. For its part, Algeria also qualified by winning against Equatorial Guinea 1-0. Women's Group A final ranking: Morocco 9 points, Algeria 6, Mali 3, Equatorial Guinea 0.
